

How do I Limit When Students Can Access My Course?

Your course is, by default, not available to anyone but instructors enrolled in the course. Even if you enroll students in the course they won't have access to your content until you make it available.

TIP!

Stay inactive until you're ready! It's a good idea to keep your course inactive until you have finished building it and setting all the permissions to all of your content. This will help you keep your construction hidden. You can also use course inactivity to restrict access at other times when you might not want even enrolled students to access it!
